

Letter of Recommendation

To whomsoever it may concern,

Between February 2019 and May 2019, Mitul worked with the team as a “Vulnerability Assessment and Penetration Testing intern” in CyRAAC Services Private Limited. I had personally interviewed Mitul, and I must say, being a fresher, his answers to most questions were quite impressive, and his confidence was rock solid.

Mitul had performed SAST and DAST on web applications based on vulnerability scanner reports. He had handled the web application penetration testing for one of the healthcare providers. During the testing phase, Mitul discovered a stack load of severe to critical vulnerabilities that could affect the confidentiality and integrity of the client’s application. In particular, Mitul was very good at understanding the security dynamics by looking at the HTTP request/response headers.

Secondly, Mitul had been proficient in documenting and reporting the vulnerabilities. His reports, threat profiles, and proofs-of-concept were precise and accurate. Taking everything into consideration, Mitul transmuted the knowledge that he gathered from his internship to develop into a seasoned and tenured professional. He has adequate corporate exposure that will allow him to progress in the career path of his choice.

I am pleased to recommend him for the skill-set and value that he puts on the table. I can assure you that Mitul puts his 100% effort into the work assigned to him.
